

Pope Pius XI, Christ's Vicar On Earth to Some 331 Million Catholics, Calls for Union

Stricken Pontiff Prays God Accept His Present Suffering "For His Own Glory" and Good of His Church.

HITS COMMUNISTS

"New Menace" Threatens Whole
World and Christianity, Declares
Church Leader.

Vatican City, Dec. 24 (AP).—Pope Pius XI prayed before the whole world today that God accept his suffering for peace among men, and from his sickbed, called for a union of all Christianity against the "evil forces" of Communism.

His eyes averted, the stricken pontiff spoke in a throbbing voice through a microphone held by Father Socorsi, director of the Vatican radio station.

He called "for a union of all men of good will against the propaganda of the enemy"—by which he meant Communism—and prayed that God accept his present suffering "for his own glory, for the conversion of all who have gone astray, for peace and the good of the entire church—and, in particular, for Spain."

In Spain, the Holy Father cried, "propaganda and evil forces have wished to make the supreme experiment of all the destructive forces scattered throughout the world, which they have at their command."

"Here is a new menace more threatening than ever before for the whole world, and particularly for Europe and its Christian civilization," he said.

Voice Trembles

The Holy Father's voice trembled throughout the whole 29 minutes of his Christmas eve message.

At times he seemed to be forcing himself on. At several intervals, he paused for a second.

He spoke of the "bitter sorrow of our paternal heart, caused by the many great evils which, these days, have fallen like a scourge on humanity, civil society and the church."

Of his own suffering, the pontiff, ill for more than two weeks of slight paralysis and circulatory congestion, told his millions of listeners:

"... the divine goodness is granting us an opportunity to contribute to the prayers, the work and the sacrifices of all by the personal experience of suffering, and until now has marvelous spared us."

"And for which the same Divine God is most readily and generously recompensing us with a wondrous and touching union prayers which, lately, from every part of the church are incessantly being offered up for the well being of the Common Father."

Speaks Slowly

His Holiness spoke slowly, with an obvious attempt at careful diction. But only scattered passages of his speech came strong and clear, as it did before his illness.

In general his tones were faltering, his syllables blurred. At times his voice dwindled to almost a murmur.

Frequently he halted in the midst of lengthy phrases to swallow and moisten his dry lips. Then, with a long breath and a tired sigh, he would continue.

A semblance of his customary clarity and robust tonal quality came to his voice when he expressed his gratitude for the consolation offered in his illness by the prayers of the devout.

His voice likewise strengthened when he began to speak of the bloody conflict in Spain.

But it faltered pitifully when he came to deal with the suffering the war has caused.

Of the prayers for his recovery, the Pope said:

"From the fullness of our heart we take the opportunity to thank all for the manifold expressions of filial affection, sympathy and devotion."

"Although what we have to suffer is very little, indeed compared to that which, so generously and painfully, people suffer in the world; and compared with that, above all, which he himself, the head, the founder, the King of this divine church had to suffer for us, both in soul and body; may He none the less deign to accept our offering, which we wish will always be in conformity with His most holy will."

Spanish War

Of Spain he declared:

"The sorrowful note which, this year, is mingled with the joys of Christmas, is even more profound and distressing because of the fact that there still rages, with all its horror, hatred, carnage and destruction, a civil war in Spain."

Of the efforts of Communism there he said:

"There are signs and portents of a terrifying reality of what is being prepared for Europe and the whole world. If they do not hasten to seek up the necessary remedies of de-

Many feared it might be the last Christmas message of Pius XI. The Holy Father, to the dismay of his adherents, and despite the circumspect statement that has confined him to his bed, insisted on carrying out this Christmas duty.

Christmas Program In Kingston Replete With Good Cheer

Not since the depression has Kingston citizenry prepared itself so well to enjoy the Christmas season.

Indications gathered from various merchandising houses point toward the most generous visit of Santa Claus in several years; houses are bedecked in greater profusion, and the spirit of Yuletide prevails in a larger and grander manner than it has for some time. Churches are presenting pageants and Christmas musicals as well as more religious services; other organizations are about the streets creating good will through song, and even the weary shopper hurrying through crowded streets to get last minute presents, smiles and nods and wishes a "Merry Christmas," with more fervor than in recent times.

Catching the spirit of good St. Nick, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a lighting contest, which begins this evening and will continue through New Year's Day, assuring a cheerful Christmas to those who walk along local streets. A number of valuable prizes will be awarded the winners.

The Mayor's Christmas Cheer Committee, aided by Santa Claus and a number of local residents, has prepared to make the season jolly for all of those who might have been passed up in the hurried trip of the smiling old fellow, who fills stockings this night, once a year. So many were the gifts of St. Nick that it was impossible for the reindeer to carry the load so Pius Chief Murphy and his bright red fire trucks and crews joined to carry the gifts to Kingston homes.

Heralding the approach of Noel, a quartet of trumpeters will play Christmas carols from the belfry of the First Dutch Church beginning at 6 o'clock this evening. Late shoppers and those who happen to be unknown will also hear the Salvation Army singing the Yuletide songs and hymns.

There will be rest for postal employees, hurrying to get the late arriving gifts to their destinations before Christmas morn.

Church Services.

A wide variety of services will be held in local churches. Tonight the Redemptor Lutheran Sunday school will hold its annual Christmas festival, beginning at 7 o'clock; and at the same hour the Immanuel Lutheran Church will present its annual children's service. Trinity Lutheran will also hold a children's service in the chapel of the church, followed by a Christmas meal at 8 o'clock.

St. Anthony's Church will present a Christmas pageant this evening. In Cuba Greets New Chief Executive, in Laredo Bru As Senate Ousts Gomez

Ninth President in Four Years
Forced From Position by Senate's Decision Early Today;
"Balking Legislative Functions."

GOMEZ CHARGES

Retiring Chief Issues Bristling
Statement Denouncing Army Leaders.

Havana, Dec. 24 (AP).—Cuban officialdom assembled today to welcome a new president—Dr. Federico Laredo Bru—after the army-controlled senate ousted Miguel Mariano Gomez for his opposition to the $1,500,000 sugar tax bill.

Gomez, the island republic's ninth president in four years, was forced from his position by the senate's decision early today that he was guilty of "interfering with the free functioning of legislative power" in fighting the tax measure.

Politically, the winner of the congressional controversy over the proposal to extend army training to rural schools was Col. Fulgencio Batista, Cuba's military "strong man."

Laredo Bru was to be inducted into the chief executive's office in official ceremonies set for noon.

Gomez was ejected by a 22-to-12 vote of the Cuban senate, sitting as a jury to hear the impeachment charges, after a debate lasting into the early morning hours.

Bristling Statement.

Immediately after the dismissal, which Gomez expected and prepared for, the retiring president issued a bristling statement denouncing army leaders and charging they sought to arrogate civil authority to themselves.

His accusations reflected the issue on which his defense staked vindication: That a verdict against the executive would throw Cuba into a military dictatorship.

He was impeached in the House of Representatives and brought to trial before the Senate after he had opposed a nine-cent-a-bag sugar tax bill to finance an army-sponsored program of rural education.

His opposition brought into the open his smoldering fight with Col. Fulgencio Batista, "strong man" head of the army, who has been the power behind Cuba's government since 1933.

In his statement, Gomez attributed his downfall to the long, under-surface battle between him and the military.

Within reasonable limits, he maintained, he sought to cooperate with the army "but they wanted more—to rival the executive power and command the palace from Camp Columbia (army headquarters)."

Army leaders, Gomez charged, tried to "invade" the presidential authority "through interferences and inspections designed to intervene and establish vigilance over it; deprecating it and tearing from its functions . . . and treasury income over which only the civil administration has authority."

Charges Juggled Budget.

To usurp power, he charged, the army juggled the national budget, "all this resulting from a growing preponderance of armed institutions."

All members of the Gomez cabinet, in accordance with their custom, immediately tendered their resignations.

Mysteriously, however, Gomez rejected the resignation of Rafael Montalvo, secretary of defense, and a close friend of Batista, accepting all others.

Gomez then sent the treasury a check remitting the unpaid balance of his personal expense account and announced he would issue his farewell message "tonight in my home as a private citizen." Laredo Bru, who was to be installed formally as president at noon, was informed of his accession by a Senate committee.

He told the senators:

"It pains me that by the downfall of an esteemed friend, I find myself under the constitutional obligation of assuming the presidency of the republic. In the exercise of that function I will do all in my power for the benefit of the country to whose betterment I will dedicate my best efforts."

First Public Office.

The new president first held public office as secretary of the Audencia Court of Santa Clara Province where he was born April 22, 1875.

He became president of the provincial court after a year and then was summoned to Havana, first to become assistant prosecutor of the Supreme Court and later prosecutor of the Audencia Court in the capital.

At the age of 30 enlisted in the war against Spain and became a colonel in the Cuban forces.

Shortly after service as secretary of the interior under the first president, Gomez, Laredo Bru retired and did not again take a prominent part in national politics until three years ago when he served in the 22-day cabinet of President Carlos Manuel de Cespedes.

In 1924, during the administration of Carlos Menéndez, Laredo Bru became president of the council of state in the national government. He was an organizer of the National Union of which Menéndez was the leader.

He is the author of Cuba's new penal code, which became effective in 1929.

Daughter of the Rev. Ernest Glenn, And Playmate, Shot

Betty Glenn, nine-year-old daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Glenn of Greenville, Greene county and Bruce Clymer, an eight-year-old playmate, were taken to the Greene county Hospital at Catskill for treatment for bullet wounds suffered when a revolver with which they were playing accidentally discharged.

The heavy .45 calibre service revolver was one which Mr. Glenn had carried during the World War.

It was expected that the youngsters would be discharged from the hospital today and sent home in time to participate in the Christmas festivities which were so nearly disrupted by the tragedy.

State Police said that they understood that the gun was discharged while Ernest Glenn, Jr., 12, his sister and the Clymer boy were playing "hold-up." Mr. Glenn's opinion was that the older boy was showing the heavy revolver to the other children.

The bullet entered the arm of the Clymer boy, penetrated the flesh and struck the Glenn girl, who was seated on the floor, in the right knee.

Trouble seems to be close kin to the Glenn family and this is the second time in little more than a year that they have been in the spotlight.

Mayor To Hold Budget Hearing Next Tuesday at City Hall to Discuss Reducing Various Items In the Budget.

SLASHES BUDGET

Heiselman Meeting With City
Boards and Departments in Effort to Slash Estimates.

If the estimates of the various city departments are included in the 1937 tax budget of Kingston the tax rate for next year would be $39.85, but Mayor C. J. Heiselman stated this morning that he is absolutely opposed to a tax rate of that amount, and that he was holding conferences with various city boards and departments, seeking ways and means to reduce items that are within the control of local authority. The mayor said, however, that he was no magician, and he could not hold the rate where it was last year, but that he would demand that it be kept below $38. There are certain mandatory items in this year's budget that must be met under the law and the mayor is powerless to reduce them. This year's tax rate was $35.48 per thousand valuation.

Mayor Heiselman said he would hold a public hearing on the proposed budget on Tuesday evening at the city hall. Under the charter provisions it is necessary to hold such a hearing, and the budget is then filed with the city clerk and is brought to the attention of the Common Council at its first regular meeting in January. The alderman, however, meet on New Year's Day to organize and receive the annual message from the mayor, but the budget is not taken up until the first regular meeting on Tuesday evening, January 5.

The various city boards and departments use a vast amount of materials and supplies during the year and it is found that the cost of these has increased considerably, making it necessary for the city boards to ask for larger appropriation for 1937.

The budget is increased over 1936 by a net amount of $24,259.02 for maturing bonds and interest because the debt equalization plan will not be in full operation until 1938. The sum of $128,000 must be included for bonds issued by previous administration from 1928 to 1933, inclusive. The sum of $49,379.92 must be included to pay obligations issued during the present administration. The interest due in 1937 on all outstanding bonds is $31,155.

There was an increase of $3,514.21 in the city's share of the county tax. On account of the change in the state law reducing the age from 70 to 65 years on old age pension eligibility, the budget for this purpose has been increased from $52,000 in 1936 to $85,000 in 1937.

The action of the Common Council recently in demanding that the pay of election officials working at the polls be increased to $10 per day increased the estimate prepared by the Common Council for this purpose by $1,222.50.

The Board of Public Works submitted an estimate $25,000 higher than last year to construct certain new streets and in order to be prepared to finish WPA projects in the event they are not finished by WPA.

Decreases include $19,000 in the home relief appropriation.

On December 31, 1936, the city will close its books. If we do not have any snow in the meantime, with a surplus of $12,000, as compared with a surplus of $18,000 at the end of 1935. This $12,000 surplus is due to the fact that there were balances left in some of the departmental appropriations and also because more revenue than was anticipated in last year's budget was received by the city in sources of income other than real estate taxes. This surplus is the more remarkable when it is considered that the deficit in the snow removal account amounted to $24,304.98, for the reason that the cost of last winter's snow storms cost $27,000, and only $12,000 was in the budget for this purpose.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP).—The position of the Treasury on December 23: Receipts, $15,844,752.42; expenditures, $15,826,432.18; balance, $1,841,279.123.89; customs receipts for the month, $28,791,562.52; for the first 11 months of the fiscal year (since July 1), $2,102,154,635.19; expenditures, $2,244,600,570.43, including $1,336,222.74 of emergency expenditures; excess of expenditures, $1,295,444,525.20; gross debt, $24,300,427,450.41; a decrease of $2,426,449.50 under the previous day; gold assets, $11,229,126,043.72.

No Change in U. S. Relations.

Washington, Dec. 24 (AP).—Sources close to the administration said today the center of impeached President Gomez of Cuba would cause no change in the United States government's diplomatic relations with the island republic.

Responsible authorities said no occasion for extending new recognition of the Cuban government would arise.

Controlling soil temperatures of young citrus orchards, materially increases their growth, University of Arizona agricultural department experiments show. Use of a thick dry mulch of a material which will not heat when irrigated has solved soil cooling difficulties, unimportant in Arizona until growers started reclaiming desert acreage for citrus development.

EMIGRATION NEED OF DROUTH REGION

Population Study Calls Resettlement a Cure.

Philadelphia.—Extensive emigration has been advanced by research authorities as a panacea for the problems of the drouth area.

The minimum reduction from the 1930 population consistent with "a safe use of the land would be about 390,000 people," according to findings of a study of population redistribution made public by the University of Pennsylvania.

Wheat Growing Harmful.

Authors of the study declared that this year's drouth is no isolated phenomenon and that resettlement of irrigation projects within the region could take care of only a fraction of the population surplus.

Over large sections of the great plains the low-cost farming methods which gave the wheat farmers their one competitive advantage are described in the report as "the primary cause of wind erosion so destructive that it eventually renders the land unfit for cultivation."

The plains situation represents only one of a number of serious cases of badly distributed population encountered in the inquiry, begun two years ago by the social science research council and carried on under auspices of the industrial research department of the Wharton school of finance and commerce of the university.

Hopeless Farms.

In the cutover lands of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, for example, it was found that scattered and haphazard settlement has left a heritage of hopeless farms and excessive costs of government, according to the report.

Even more serious in the opinion of the authors is the failure of migration to draw enough people away from certain "population pockets" in which extreme poverty and high birth rates are found in regions of inadequate resources.

The report suggested that some 350,000 people should eventually leave the crowded plateaus of the Southern Appalachians and indicate the needs for even greater migrations from the old cotton belt. "Each of these regions," it declared, "is doomed not only to continuing but to increasing poverty unless it is relieved of large numbers of people."

Artificial Vitamin "B"

Produced by Scientist

Minneapolis, Minn. — More extensive use of vitamin B compound for human consumption is forecast in the present issue of Modern Medicine, published here, as result of recent discovery of synthetic vitamin B.

Production of the artificial vitamin was achieved by Dr. R. R. Williams, according to the publication. Among other scientists who helped perfect the process, the magazine said, were Dr. J. J. Cline, Prof. H. T. Clarke, Dr. E. R. Buchman and R. E. Waterman and A. E. Ruechle.

The process of making artificial vitamin B, the first vitamin discovered, requires the combining of a drug which puts people to sleep with a sulphur-containing substance used to vulcanize rubber.

Synthetic production of the vitamin, eliminating the costly and longer method of extracting the pure substance from the vegetable in which it is contained, will open a new field in medicine, the magazine predicted.

Vitamin B, discovered in 1896, even before the word "vitamin" had been coined, promotes health and well being in the body. It also is a factor in growth of the body.

It is effective for the treatment of certain nervous ailments and lack of it causes a dropsy disease known as "beri-beri."

Barn Built of Timbers

From Fillmore's Home

Geneva, N. Y. — The boyhood home of Millard Fillmore, thirteenth President of the United States, has been torn down because no organization showed enough interest in its preservation to pay the owners $700. Fillmore, elected Vice President in 1848 on the Whig ticket, succeeded to the Presidency in 1850 upon the death of Zachary Taylor and served until 1853. He was defeated for re-election by James Buchanan.

He had lived in the Cayuga county house until he was nineteen years old and returned to it many times. In recent years it had been unoccupied and the owners had attempted to sell it to some patriotic organization. Unable to obtain an offer of more than $250 they dismantled it and sold the lumber for construction of a barn.

Missouri's Channel May

Bare "Treasure Steamer"

Blair, Neb.—River workmen are watching the Missouri's shifting channel closely these days in the hopes of discovering the "treasure steamer" Bertrand which sank near Desoto Landing in 1902 with $100,000 worth of mercury and 3,000 gallons of pre-Civil war whisky.

The mercury, being shipped to Montana mining centers in earthen carboys, might be found, experts agree, but there are differences of opinion concerning the whisky carried in wooden barrels.

Winter sports began in the Bear Mountain section of the Palisades Interstate Park of New York and New Jersey, with the completion of the ski rink, 1,000 feet long, north of Bear Mountain Inn, from a roller skating to an ice skating surface, on Thanksgiving Day. Snow and ice sports will follow, just as soon as the weather permits.

CHARM IN CONVERSATION

Laura charms men and women alike because her artful conversation puts them at ease.

She keeps eyes and ears open for fascinating things to talk about. By describing people she sees, relating snippets of conversations she overhears, she makes her jaunt to town for a spool of thread sound more amusing than Mrs. Bore's trip to California.

But the real secret of Laura's success as a conversationalist is her knack for getting other people to talk.

If Mrs. Timid looks forlorn Laura steers her toward Mrs. Talkative. "You two have a lot in common in your boys," she says. "Mrs. Talkative's experiences in choosing a school for her son may help you decide where to send James."

If the conversation lags Laura starts the ball rolling again with "Mr. Smith, I hear you're a movie fan. Have you seen any good pictures lately?" Or, "Gladys, you're always up on the styles. What's new in clothes?"

She frankly fishes to find people's interests. "Are you fond of winter sports?" she may use as bait. She makes a newcomer feel he's part of the group by asking his advice. "We're going South this winter. Do you know of interesting places to stop?"

We all must talk. Why not learn, as Laura did, to talk charmingly. Our 40-page booklet, Improving Your Conversation, tells where to find fascinating things to say, how to say them. How to develop a lovely speaking voice, widen vocabulary, and lead the conversation in large as well as intimate groups.

Send 15c for our booklet, Improving Your Conversation, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 103 West 19th street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT AT PINE BUSH SCHOOL

The Pine Bush School Christmas entertainment was held at the Pine Bush schoolhouse on Monday evening, December 21.

Never before was there so large an audience as on this occasion. A large number of chairs had to be sent for immediately so that space enough was provided for those present. This was made possible through the courtesy of H. B. Humiston of Kerhonkson.

The guest speaker, the Rev. Ben Scholten, was introduced by Miss Esther Bredesky. She stated that the Rev. Mr. Scholten has shown every effort to cooperate with her in any community undertaking. He has given assistance at all times and only a physical impossibility would prevent his display of good sportsmanship and social sense. The Rev. Mr. Scholten discussed the topic, "Significance of Christmas Trees."

The school program then followed which consisted of the following numbers:

Song—Holy Night By All
Recitation—A Welcome Patricia Scholten

Recitation—Baby's Stocking Doris Hart
Recitation—A Trip to Town Marlon Hart

Recitation—A Christmas Song Donald Van Vleet
Recitation—A Wee Stocking Henry Davis

Song—Away in a Manger Sung by Jane Davis

Play—Who Gave the Christmas Party?—Martin Bredesky, Philip Davis, William Upright, Ruth Hart, Donald Hart.

Solo—Santa Claus Is Coming to Town Martin Bredesky

Santa Claus distributed the presents and as a concluding element of humor, he danced a waltz with the teacher. This called forth a great deal of laughter and applause from the audience.

The affair was honored by having the district superintendent of schools, Lester J. Rooks, also Trustee and Mrs. Willard Davis, present at the program.

Treasurer States Property Taxes Paid

In the last minute rush of the work of the county treasurer's office to prepare the tax lists for publication, the county treasurer's force neglected to take certain properties from the lists, and the county treasurer wishes to state that the following persons in the towns named had paid the taxes and they should not have appeared in the list as published:

H. Watson, Denning; Clara Dibble Heirs, Esopus; Grace Terpinning, Esopus; Richard Whalen, Hurley; William B. Oakley, Marlinton; Perry Davis, Marlinton; Richard Peterson, New Paltz; Anna Wynkoop, Rochester; Mrs. Grace Terwilliger, Rochester; Margaret Cleary, Saugerties; Leo Matthews, Saugerties, Mc-

Charged With Parole Violation
Henry Williams, Jr., 27, of New Paltz, who has been out on parole from Elmira Reformatory for a year or so past, was picked up Wednesday by Troopers Klein and Elliott and brought to the Ulster county jail, where he will be held pending the arrival of a parole officer, probably on Monday. Williams was taken into custody under direction of district parole officer William Lock of New York city.

NOT FOR CHILDREN ONLY

This is a merry Christmas, indeed, from the standpoint of returning properly, quantities of gifts, huge holiday business. It is a merry Christmas, too, from the standpoint of good fortune shared. Through private generosity, through organized charity and community chests, many families and individuals who "have not" have shared with those who "have not." There has been vigorous refutation of Old Scrooge's estimate of Christmas spirit: "Christmas! Bah! Humbug!"

Yet it is not a perfect Christmas. "Peace on earth, good will to men" is confined to personal relationships. Over large areas of Christendom human beings fight each other, nations arm against each other, dreadful fear and savage selfishness dominate many people and many governments.

Perhaps it would be well when the stockings have been emptied, the new toys examined and the tree admired, to take time from further festivities to talk over the significance of Christmas. If nations accepted the Christmas message as families and individuals do, there might be some hope that civilization would save itself from the abyss of war. And how can nations ever reach such an attitude toward each other if it is not taught to their citizens in their homes from childhood on?

THE DEBT FEELER

The excitement over the reports that France was sending out unofficial feelers relative to offering to pay something more on her debts and that other nations might follow, seems to have subsided. Other hints have crossed the Atlantic that nothing more will be done about it by France in the near future, and that England is not at this time contemplating any change in its do-nothing debt policy.

Perhaps the lack of enthusiasm engendered on this side of the Atlantic may have discouraged further feelers from abroad. Uncle Sam wants the allied nations to pay on account and judging from the tremendous sums being spent by the defaulting nations preparing for the next war, it would seem that something could be paid without financially paralyzing the debtor countries.

But the prospects of getting a little on account has not excited the American politicians, statesmen and business men to the point where they are saying pay us a part of what you owe and we will begin lending you for the next war. Perhaps this is why we are not getting quick action from abroad.

Renewal of debt discussion brought the warning from American statesmen that while they welcomed the prospect of more payments, the re-establishment of contact between the debtor and creditor nation would not result in the loosening of American purse-strings to finance further military ventures in Europe. Statements of the kind were made by men of all shades of political opinion.

GREEN DYE FOR GRASS

Dye for grass, still on the ground, seems to be something new under the sun. It is to be used chiefly to make golf greens as rich and fresh looking in the late fall and winter as they appear in spring and summer. It overcomes the rusty brown or faded yellowish-green that develops when the grass stops growing for the season.

The process was discovered by the United States Golf Association searching for a chemical remedy for a disease of golf greens. It was publicly used for the first time at the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia a few weeks ago. Fans were surprised at the greenness of the field, supposing that autumn and winter had overlooked that spot. All eighteen holes of a golf course can be dyed for a total of $1,000. The color will last for two or three weeks in winter, and is not damaged in the least by snow or frost.

This all seems not only harmless but positively useful. But the dyeing must be controlled to keep to the original purpose. Otherwise, sooner or later some one would start making the grass red and the foliage purple. That would be as bad as crimson fingernails.

GYPSY LAMENT

It would happen, of course. The real gypsies are copying the imitation gypsies and adopting auto trailers. A gypsy "king" in Dodge City, Kan., issues a timely lament. "First it was the automobile instead of the wagon," he says, "and now it's the trailer. Our people will be traveling in 'em next summer." So there will be no more campfires, no more simple privacy, no more sitting around on the ground crooning by moonlight, no more food cooked over glowing coals. There will be oil stoves and curtains and elegance. It's very sad.

The old folks grieve at this change, or at least the men do. But the young folks like it. They want to be modern. The one satisfaction to the parents is that maybe these newfangled contraptions will hold the boys and girls, who have been slipping away.

It may be up to blasé city folks now to go primitive and, letting the real gypsies have the nifty trailers, adopt for themselves old-fashioned gypsy wagons. Stranger things have happened.

G-MAN TOYS

A safe and sane Christmas idea, meant to keep little angels from growing up outlaws, is attributed to the boss G-man at Washington, J. Edgar Hoover, who is a parent himself.

Like many another father, Mr. Hoover doesn't like to see youngsters rampaging around with toy shooting irons and acquiring the vocabulary of gangdom, even if they do regard themselves as young G-men. There is really very little violence in the work of the government agents, he says. In not more than one out of 50 captures is there any bloodshed. Nearly all of the work of rounding up dangerous criminals is scientific.

So he wants parents to give their hero-worshipping kids toys like finger-printing sets, microscopes and card indexes. That will be fine for boys scientifically inclined. But most boys will still prefer to shoot and yell.

EFSOM SALTS FOR ASTHMA

Now that it is known that asthma is not an "incurable" ailment there is much research work being carried on throughout the world. While the Asthma Research Council of Great Britain is perhaps the best known, other organizations and individual research physicians are contributing much to the knowledge of the cause and treatment of asthma.

And the idea that comes to us from the study of the results already obtained is that asthma is a symptom or group of symptoms due to various or different causes.

Thus defects of nose and throat, chronic bronchitis attacks, too much alkaline food, certain foods to which the patient is sensitive or allergic, certain poisons or other substances—perfumes, powders—that the patient inhales or breathes into his lungs, an inherited nervous or emotional tendency, have each and all been found to bring on attacks of asthma.

The immediate treatment now given is epinephrine (adrenalin-extract of the adrenal glands) situated one above each kidney. Ten to fifteen drops of the usual 1 to 1000 solution is slowly injected under the skin and the attack usually stops in four or five minutes. Further injections are given if necessary, using smaller doses.

Other drugs used are ephedrine (the Chinese drug) which can be given by mouth, belladonna, morphine, amyl nitrate inhaled from a handkerchief may give prompt relief, as may also one drop of spirits of nitroglycerin in water every 3 hours.

A new and apparently an effective treatment for asthma is the use of Epsom salts—magnesium sulphate—whose only use we may think is to clear the lower bowel.

Drs. H. J. Hoeftel and J. C. Fla. Buenos Aires, in the Argentine Medical Journal, state that injecting a 1-9 per cent solution of magnesium sulphate in doses of from one-third to two-thirds of a teaspoonful produced an immediate and sedative (quieting) effect in an asthmatic patient during a crisis which had failed to respond to epinephrine, ephedrine, amyl nitrate, belladonna or morphine. However, the action of the magnesium sulphate does not last long, and the injections have to be repeated until the crisis disappears.

Drs. Hoeftel and Fla. have found the magnesium sulphate useful in other conditions of spasm such as strabismus, St. Vitus' dance, and other conditions of over-activity of the nervous system.

It is gratifying to know that one more efficient remedy for an attack of asthma is now available.

Wings For Sally

by BAILEY WOLFE

SYNOPSIS: Philip Page, young publisher of the Warrenton Courier, loves Sally Warren, the society editor. Wealthy Mary Morris pursues Philip despite his campaign against her property-owning father to improve living conditions. Giles Benton, a detective engaged by Morris, accuses McDonald, a discharged mill worker of fire in the theater. He is tried for arson. Philip and Sally, believing McDonald innocent, fight to save him. Sally pleads furiously with old Mr. Morris to halt the prosecution. Before leaving, she overhears Benton admit that McDonald was framed.

Chapter 40

Kidnaped

SALLY heard a chair scrape the floor. She pressed herself tightly against the wall. The study was silent. Giles Benton and Mrs. Picard must be on their way out. Sally edged closer to the window and peered in. Mr. Morris was alone, hunched in his big chair. He breathed heavily and his face was flushed.

Sally was in a panic. She did not know what to do. If Mr. Morris said Giles Benton what he had asked, Giles and Mrs. Picard would go away, and with them all the proof of McDonald's innocence.

Although she had heard their conversation, how could she prove that she had heard? If only there were time to reach Philip Page before Giles Benton and Mrs. Picard left! The one thing she saw clearly was that she must not let Giles Benton get away.

The man and the woman were leaving the house now. She could see Benton's rumpled park in the driveway. There was no one else about. Why not go to the car, tell Giles Benton she had heard the truth, and demand that he see Philip and her father at once? Sally sped across the grass toward the car, before she should lose her courage. Mrs. Picard and Giles Benton were beside the car talking together in low tones. Sally approached them noiselessly, the grass smothering her footsteps.

"Mr. Benton," said Sally timidly. "Miss Warren," said Sally bravely. "I heard you tell Mr. Morris that McDonald could take the rap."

"Suppose we get in the car, Miss Warren," said Giles quickly. "We'll go somewhere we can talk about this with some privacy."

"Why not go to my office?" suggested Sally. "Mr. Page may be there now."

"A good idea," said Giles. "Mr. Page is the very man to discuss this matter with."

A Wild Ride

SALLY was exultant. It had been so easy to bring Giles to reason. In another hour perhaps everything would be settled and McDonald would be free to go home to his sick wife. How proud Philip Page would be to find that she had solved the whole thing herself!

Giles Benton opened the door of the roadster and Sally climbed in. Mrs. Picard got in beside her. Although the single seat of the car was fairly large, when Giles Benton was in the car Sally found herself with little space to turn between the two. Mrs. Picard remained silent as Giles Benton turned the car and they sped down the driveway.

"I'll have to ask you to wait with me while I get some gas," said Benton. It's a little out of the way, but I always go to this particular station for gas. Do you mind, Miss Warren?"

"No, indeed," Sally scarcely heard him, she was so busy planning the surprise she meant to give Philip Page when they reached the office. Wedged in the middle of the seat, where she could scarcely see on either side of her, Sally paid little attention to the direction they were taking.

Suddenly the car struck an uneven surface, and at the same time Giles Benton stepped on the accelerator and the machine jerked violently and then shot ahead, bumping Sally violently against Mrs. Picard. The woman caught and held at Sally's arm, as if to steady herself. Sally sat up and straightened her hat. The car continued to bump along the road, and a cloud of dust rose around them.

"Haven't you taken the wrong turn?" asked Sally, peering into the darkness.

"Read. Grass grew on it, and

"No, indeed," said Giles Benton. "Don't worry, Miss Warren. I know the road quite well."

By this time Sally thought she, too, knew the road. "We're on the way to Hillcrest, aren't we?" she asked quietly.

"Right," said Giles. "I've decided we can talk things over more comfortably at my place. I'd rather talk to you first, without Mr. Page."

"Let Me Out!"

SALLY thought she knew why. He might hope to buy her off. He knew that he could not hush the matter once Philip Page knew the truth. But she was angry at the high-handed way Giles Benton had started for Hillcrest without asking her permission.

She glanced at the speedometer. The car was making an even 60 miles an hour and it seemed more on the unpaved road. Thus far they had passed no one. It was about nine o'clock, Sally guessed.

Suddenly she remembered that no one knew where she was. No one saw her go to the office. No one would think of calling the Morris house to ask for her, since she had said she would be late getting home. And what if they did call the Morrises? Dennison, the butler, had seen her leave there alone, walking.

All at once the car swerved to the right violently. Sally peered through the darkness. They seemed to have left the Hillcrest road. The little strip of road she could see under the car lights was no more than a wagon

SHOKAN

Shokan, Dec. 24.—Miss Gertrude Osterhout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Osterhout, of Brown Station, is home for the holidays.

Miss Osterhout is attending a school in Brooklyn this winter.

Work is progressing on the Hurley WPA road project at Temple's Pond near the north boulevard. Improvements are being made to the stretch of highway leading from the pond along the mountain slope to Glenford Heights.

Lawrence Spencer and family left town Monday for Bridgeport, Conn., from which point they will go on to Florida to spend the winter months.

The Spencers, who are former residents of Bridgeport, have been making their home for the past year in the bungalow formerly occupied by the late Thomas K. Spencer.

Thursday night is the date of the Reformed Sunday School Christmas exercises and treat. Everyone is cordially invited to attend this affair at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Glacone entertained at cards Saturday evening at their home on the north boulevard, their guests on this occasion being Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sahlibeck and Mr. and Mrs. Hassie Wager.

The shovels used on the WPA road job at the Brown Station hill have been removed temporarily to the rock cut below the spillway, where material will be taken out for use in paving the road.

A number of old school Baptists from Kingston and other places attended the preaching services in the Olive and Hurley Baptist meeting house Sunday morning and afternoon. Elder Arnold Bellows of West Hurley officiated at the services.

Robert and John Lawson, students at Yale University, are home for the Christmas holidays.

Lester Alexander last Saturday saved up a big pile of logwood into stove lengths for the corner store. "Les" enjoys the reputation of being one of the fastest sawyers in these parts, while a 14-inch butt log of oak or maple laid on the saw table means nothing in his young life.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Dibble are riding around in one of the new model Packard cars.

Dec. 14, 1917, the marriage took place of Roy L. Brower of Kenhook to Lena H. Merrihue of Ashokan. The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. George Wiley, pastor of the Ashokan M. E. Church, the witnesses being Floyd Merrihue and Orpha Bishop. The couple, who were born and brought up in this section, now make their home in Kingston.

The sale is reported of the Greenway woodlot on the north boulevard to Frank Barringer and Dr. H. P. Van Wagenen, owners of adjoining properties.

Miss Barbara Tuceling of Poughkeepsie is spending a holiday vacation at the Tuceling farmhouse.

Fresh eggs bring 35 cents a dozen when taken in trade at the local stores. Pullet eggs are quoted at 25 cents and butter at 35 cents.

Several men of the twin villages expect to take the BWS examinations in January for jobs on the Rondout waterworks project.

Members of the local bridge club met Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Carrie Brooks in Ashokan. A feature of the meeting was a general exchange of Christmas gifts.

The Ladies Aid Society committee on Christmas gifts met Tuesday afternoon at the church to prepare gift baskets for the shut-in persons of the community.

Lester Alexander and family have removed from the Frank Myers bungalow on the mountain road to the Davis house in Ashokan.

MISSTATEMENTS, SAYS OLIVE HIGHWAY SUPERINTENDENT

At infrequent intervals the Shokan column carries rather caustic criticism of various road projects in the town of Olive. The writer's latest blast appeared quite recently. It referred to the work now being done at the Beaverkill Brook side of the Brown's Station hill, at the same time stating that a similar job on the Mountain Road to the Heights section of Shokan, completed about two years ago at a considerable expense, resulted in a very steep grade on a cut-off, very little shorter and equally as dangerous as the abandoned highway. The inference the writer desires to draw is quite obvious but in this, as well as previous instances, it is based on a false premise.

Here are the actual facts: The residents along the Mountain Road to the Heights section of Shokan petitioned the town board for this particular highway. Their petition was passed by the town board and the sum of $500 appropriated for the work. Construction was then completed in accordance with the expressed wishes of the residents, the superintendent of highways having no discretion in the matter. The actual cost to the town was around $300—which hardly can be considered "a considerable amount of money." The present underwriting at Brown's Station hill is a similar project. It was petitioned by the residents of that community, passed by the town board and is being constructed as they desire.

All of the foregoing is a matter of record that can readily be verified at the office of the town board. It therefore follows that the writer of the Shokan column is either grossly misinformed or has some ulterior motive for his half-baked misstatements.

SUPERINTENDENT OF HIGHWAYS Town of Olive

David Vaage of Norway got acquainted with one American "convention" custom when he was here recently. Vaage was traveling in this country as head of the Industrial Safety Service of the International Labor Office at Geneva. One of his stops was in Topeka, Kan., where he attended a meeting of an association of industrial accident boards. A member rose to announce that the blindest turkey gobbler they could find would be presented to the person present who had come the longest distance. Mr. Vaage, who had crossed an ocean as well as parts of two continents, was without competition. It is a question whether he on the spot was surprised.

A Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—One of Secretary Wallace's jobs is to prepare farmers for a little disappointment now and then. He has been doing that recently.

Speaking before the American farm bureau federation at Pasadena, Calif., Wallace again reminded these farmers that they probably could not have AAA even though at a meeting in Washington they said they wanted it even more than the crop insurance program he is trying to sell them.

At the Pasadena meeting he told the farmers that agriculture was no longer a forgotten industry. That was sugar coating. The core of the pill was his reminder that after all the farmers are only about one third of the population and that since 1933 their condition has improved only now they are getting "nearly 100 per cent" parity in farm prices.

Under one form of crop insurance advocated by Wallace, surpluses would be stored for years, either by the farmer or by the government in the farmer's name.

Ever Normal Granary
 AGAIN he brought up crop insurance and the ever normal granary. The difference between crop insurance and the AAA is that the government pays the farmers bounties for regulating production under AAA while under crop insurance the farmer, in a large sense, pays his own bounties.

Under one form of crop insurance advocated by Wallace, surpluses would be stored for years, either by the farmer or by the government in the farmer's name.

Washington Surprised
 UNOFFICIAL Washington expressed some surprise at one statement by Secretary Wallace at Pasadena.

"I do not propose to outline today just what new measures should be adopted if and when surpluses again begin to pile up," he said. "I believe the situation as it develops will point the way to the necessary action."

If that implied the problem of surpluses should be passed over until the surpluses appear, it would be a sharp departure from Wallace's previous program of regulated production.

TALKS TO PARENTS

Hands
 BY BROOKE FETTERS CHURCH
 In this day of excessive manuring, everyone's attention is naturally drawn to the hands. One notices them if they are not made up, because then they are exceptional, and of course one's eyes are attracted to them if they are tended and cared for and emphasized by enameled nails. But the hand's formation is a clue to character.

Whether one uses or can use one's hands, and how, has a great deal to do with one's mental development. The smooth, flabby hand of which many women are so proud often betrays a personality only partially developed. The really beautiful hand is fully developed, muscular and thin.

Long tapering fingers do not necessarily mean artistic ability. The artist's hand is apt to be broad and thick in the palm from muscular development, and is always extraordinarily strong.

The earlier in life that hand training is started, the better. The very little child should be encouraged to use his hands when he plays. He should be given fewer mechanical toys that run themselves, and more toys that require constructive ability. As he grows older, blocks, pencils and paper, hammer, saw, nails and lumber, needles and thread and scissors should become part of his equipment and care should be taken that he uses all of these tools and becomes skilled in their use.

Girls and boys should be taught to value and care for their hands, not from the standpoint of beauty but of perfection as tools. If they are trained to function perfectly, real beauty will almost certainly follow, and surely the owner of these exquisite instruments will be a more rounded and complete person than the pampered darling whose hands are "beautiful but dumb."

vicar on earth to more than 331 million Catholics, seemed not to care, his attendants said, what effect the exertion would have on his illness. If his voice might be heard at least once again asking a Christmas blessing for all men.

Faltering Voice

New York, Dec. 24 (AP).—The sad, sometimes faltering voice of Pope Pius XI was heard throughout the United States today as the major radio networks of the country broadcast his Christmas eve message from Vatican City.

The Pope spoke in Italian, his voice vibrant and varying in pitch from bass to higher tones.

Several times he paused, clearing his throat. On one occasion, it sounded as though he coughed.

Although the voice of the Pontiff definitely was that of an aged man, the diction was clear and the sentences direct.

At one point, four minutes before he stopped speaking, the Pope seemed to be deeply affected. It was when he repeated the word "peace" in speaking of "the Prince of Peace."

An English translation of the speech was broadcast after the Pope finished. The Pope spoke 29 minutes, starting a few minutes after 6:30 a. m. (E. S. T.). The translation occupied only 17 minutes.

No German Broadcast.

Berlin, Dec. 24 (AP).—No radio station in Germany rebroadcast Pope Pius' Christmas message today.

A subordinate Nazi official, in charge of today's programs, said "We have received telephoned inquiries all morning, but so far as I know there will be no such broadcast."

He said he did not know why the program was not sent out and added: "Nor can I put you in contact with anyone in authority. Everyone has gone home for Christmas."

of the Church of the Nativity, members of the Church of England gathered to sing their old familiar carols.

The bells of Bethlehem will ring out just before matins are sung in St. Catherine's Church, preparatory to the celebration of the midnight Pontifical Mass by the Latin patriarch.

This ceremony will reach its joyous climax when the patriarch carries an image of the infant Jesus into the grotto.

The bells again will carry around the world from troubled Palestine a message of "On earth, peace; good will toward men."

Blames Raw Milk.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP).—Dr. George H. Ramsey, assistant commissioner for preventable diseases of the state health department, attributed to raw milk today an outbreak of 500 cases of what he said was scarlet fever and sore throat in Oswego, Tioga county. The milk supply was stopped yesterday. Dr. Ramsey said, "There is every reason to believe the outbreak will not spread any further," the health department representative said. "Some of the cases are very serious." Dr. Ramsey said the first cases were reported last Friday, and that the source was discovered yesterday.

Pneumonia Leads Diseases

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 24 (AP).—Pneumonia, with 439 cases reported outside New York city, led all other diseases in prevalence during the week ending December 12, a weekly bulletin of the State Health Department showed today. Deaths were reported in 12 of the upstate cases. Smallpox cases reported totaled 52, all in Steuben and Livingston counties. Other communicable diseases listed included scarlet fever, 229; whooping cough, 242; measles, 147; typhoid fever, 3; diphtheria, 3. One death each was reported caused by whooping cough and scarlet fever.

Botanical Director Dead.

Y. He was 69 years of age and died of a stroke of paralysis after an illness of several weeks. He was named director of the Garden October 1, 1935, after eleven years' service as assistant director. Dr. Howe was president of the Torrey Botanical Club, and a former president of the New York Academy of Science.

MORE TROUBLES FOR BRUNETTE

Handcuffed to an officer, Harry Brunette was brought from the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary to New York to face new charges. Captured after a spectacular gun battle in uptown Manhattan, Brunette had been sentenced to life imprisonment for kidnaping a New Jersey state trooper. Now, seeking to make sure that he spend the rest of his life in jail, the government has indicted him on 24 counts charging interference with and assault upon officers. (Associated Press Photo)

Christmas Song Scene for Rotary

A delightful Christmas program was presented to the members and guests of Rotary in the Governor Clinton yesterday noon in the form of a musical playlet under the direction of Mrs. Carlyn Gross. The setting was the living room of a cotton plantation dressed in the form of a southern Christmas with a glowing tree and a flickering fireplace. The characters in the play were the grandmother, the children and grandchildren, and they came to sing Christmas songs to the silver haired grandmother. Those taking part in the presentation were Mrs. Arpha Craft, Mrs. Ruth Brinier, Mrs. Harriet Chidsey, Miss Ruth Neal, Mrs. Mollie Winne, Mrs. Kay Schwartz, Mrs. Florence Remmert and Mrs. Millicent Schultz. Songs included in the program were "Silent Night," "Jesu Bambino," "The First Noel," "Joy to the World," and a "Lullaby" by Brahms. The entire program was so well sung and presented that the group drew constant applause from the appreciative audience. The program was arranged by Joseph Moran of the Rotary program committee.

TILLSON

Tillson, Dec. 24.—Usual services in both Friends and Reformed Church on Sunday morning. In the evening the Phillips evangelistic party will hold a platform service in the Friends Church to which everybody is invited. Those who were present at the service they held there last year will surely want to be present and bring their friends with them.

The pageant "The Christmas Pilgrim," given by the choir and Sunday school of the Reformed Church brought out a capacity audience. It was a most beautiful and impressive service. The Wise Men, shepherds, angels, Mary and Joseph, in Oriental costume, made a beautiful picture and the music by the choir told the story of Christmas in a very interesting manner.

The Christmas party given by the Thomas Club of the Reformed Church to the members of the Sunday school was a most enjoyable affair. The room was decorated for Christmas with a Christmas tree as a prominent feature. Tables were set with a place for all. At each place was a little red basket of Christmas candies. All joined in playing games, after which refreshments of cake, cocoa and bananas were served. Later all gathered around the Christmas tree and sang Christmas songs. Santa Claus came and had a present for all the children. This club of young girls and their leader, Miss Craig, deserve great credit for arranging for this party and carrying it out in such an efficient manner. Elsie Albert spent the week-end with her father, Leonard Albert.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Quick of Stuyvesant called on relatives here Saturday.

Clifton Van Nostrand has started building a bungalow for the Davis girls, on the foundation of the house which burned to the ground last summer.

Spinners, married women and widows, residing in a questionnaire, agreed the ideal husband doesn't have to have sex appeal, good looks, fine clothes—or the ability to tell funny stories.

125 Attended Third Jewish Youth Meet

More than 125 new and old members packed the Social Hall of Temple Emanuel last Sunday evening for the third and, by far the largest meeting of a newly organized group of Jewish young people. The name of Jewish Youth Alliance was adopted as the official title of the group and a constitution was offered which stated the aims to be:

The furtherance of unity among the Jewish youth.
Provision for outlets for the social, cultural and athletic talents of the young Jews of Kingston.

To render assistance to all the Synagogues in Kingston and to cooperate with the larger body of older Jews in the city.

To encourage Jewish youth to realize the historic and present values of their religion and to become awakened to current Jewish culture and problems.

To act as a force for patriotism and Americanism among the youth of Kingston.

In response to an appeal from the Census Bureau in Washington, D. C., the J. Y. A. undertook a census project to discover the number and whereabouts of the Jewish population of Kingston. The committee recently appointed consisting of Joseph Farcas, chairman, Barnhardt Kramer, and Harry Fertel, was ordered to divide the city into zones and prepare a list of questions to be submitted to the Jewish population of Kingston. Volunteers from the club will be asked to canvas the various zones. It is hoped that this work will get under way in January.

Plans were discussed for entering the various athletic leagues and members signed up in dramatic, cultural and athletic groups. A comedy skit, directed by Irving Schwartz, was presented as part of the program of entertainment. Later those attending enjoyed dancing. Music was furnished by the J. Y. A. orchestra. Emanuel Levy, piano; Davis Friedman, saxophone; Spiegel, drums. There was a community sing and refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the club will be held in the Social Hall of Temple Emanuel on Sunday evening, January 3, at 8 o'clock.

The island group of Curacao is a part of the Dutch West Indies.

Batista, Cuba's 'Maker Of Presidents', Faces A New Test

OUT OF THE RANKS

Presidents have come and presidents have gone in Cuba pretty much at the whim of Fulgencio Batista since September 4, 1933, when the 32-year-old boyish looking sergeant engineered a coup d'etat of non-commissioned officers and overthrew the De Cespedes government.

HIS FIRST PRESIDENT

The revolutionary junta headed by Batista named Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin (right) to the presidency and then the ex-army court stenographer, who wasn't given a ghost's chance to succeed, met with flying colors a series of tests which included a series of street battles with Communists, former army officers and army rebels.

THE COLONEL TAKES STOCK

Three years later—smartly groomed in a medal-bedecked uniform—Batista seemed to be dreaming of glory, past and future, while he reviewed the third anniversary celebration of his coup, in his capacity of head of the army, navy and national police force.

ANOTHER CRISIS

Cuba faces another crisis with Colonel Batista, here leading his men on a recent march, filling his usual role of the "man behind the throne." Batista's followers sponsored impeachment action against President Miguel Mariano Gomez for opposing a sugar tax bill which would provide funds for army-taught rural schools. The president charged the schools would breed fascism.

THREE YEARS AFTER

Three years in power have matured Cuba's "iron man" who denies dictatorial ambitions but who has turned his important military command to advantage in making—and breaking presidents.

Four Are Arrested In Quarry Thefts, Given New Chance

On December 10 a quantity of machinery, material and automobile parts were stolen from the quarry of Charles F. Cole in the town of Saugerties. Included in the loot were tools and a quantity of parts removed from cars. Sergeant James Cunningham and Trooper Walter Keefe were called in to investigate and after a thorough investigation they located the persons responsible and also recovered the stolen articles.

Tuesday James Vetter, Frank Vetter, Abram Hill and Stanley Peters, all of West Saugerties, were arrested and arraigned before Justice Bennett on charges of petit larceny. Justice Bennett found the men guilty and imposed 15-day jail sentences but gave the defendants another chance and suspended the execution of sentence.

Reunion After 40 Years

Kansas City, Dec. 24 (AP).—A reunion after 40 years was Christmas gift today for the Maggio brothers. Joseph Maggio immigrated to the United States from Sicily when he was 10, first settling in New Orleans. James followed eight years later, living in Orange, N. J., until 15 years ago when he went to New Rochelle, N. Y. After a sister died and Joseph returned from World War service they lost track of each other. The chance acquaintance of Earl E. Jameson, Kansas City, with James in a bar and grill at New Rochelle re-established the contact. Tuesday James came here to see his brother, a track walker for the Kansas City Terminal Railway.

Whelan, Lewis Sent to Dannemora

along the highway in Ulster county on October 17, a quantity of steel forms used for concrete highway construction. The charge against him was grand larceny, second degree. It is alleged he trucked the forms away from the place where they had been left by a contractor following completion of a job. Kolassa entered a plea of not guilty and asked the court to assign counsel. Raymond Mino was assigned by the court.

Slashing Fracas

George McPhail, 22, of Kingston, was charged with assault, second degree, alleged to have taken place on October 28, last. It is alleged he slashed one Dawson in a fracas. McPhail had been convicted of unlawful entry on a prior date and the court took this into consideration and gave the defendant a term in Elmira Reformatory.

James C. Reilly of Newburgh, who was involved according to the authorities in a securities deal with a Highland party, was charged with grand larceny, first degree. It is alleged he secured possession of securities about February 15, last. There were two counts in the indictment. Arraigned he entered a plea of not guilty and asked that counsel be assigned. Joseph Forman was assigned by the court.

Lewis Sentenced

Samuel Lewis, who it is alleged became involved in an argument with Smoke Watkins, local boxer, at the Hudson yard on November 28, and apparently found the boxer too good a man to tackle single handed for, he left the scene of the argument and borrowed a shotgun, was next. Returning he took a shot at Smoke but the shot failed to do any serious damage since Smoke traveled so fast away from the gun that it was impossible to see him. The charge against Lewis was assault, first degree. Justice Schrick said the charge grew out of an affair in the lower part of the city and the only way to stamp out these shootings and slashings was to inflict severe punishments when the defendant came before the courts. He imposed a term of from two to four years at hard labor in Clinton State Prison at Dannemora.

Plead Not Guilty

Orrille Pelen and William Banks, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, were arraigned. Pelen, 27, and Banks, 18, pleaded not guilty to the charge of having entered the gun house at the Ulster County Gun Club house on September 16, last, and taking a quantity of shells and other materials. After a long investigation which baffled the police Sheriff McInerney went to one of the premises on another matter and while there, being an expert hunter, he noticed that some shot-gun shells on the premises did not contain a regular hunting load but a trap load of shot. The investigation was renewed and Pelen and Banks were arrested and their case went to the grand jury. Elmer Pelen, 17, of Miller Lane, and Leighton Winchell, of the town of Hurley, were also charged with a part in the crime but they were admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000 to await action of the grand jury. Pelen told the court he could not get counsel and Elmer H. Nathan was assigned as counsel. Banks said he might get an attorney.

Frank D'Aigle of Ardonia was indicted in three indictments, all charging forgery, second degree, alleged to have been committed on October 22, October 19 and October 5, last, at Ardonia. The charge grows out of three check transactions involving relatives. He entered a plea of not guilty and said he would get counsel.

Six Months in Jail
Thomas Higgins of Fort Ewen, who was found asleep in the public school there, was charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry. On December 14 he was found sleeping in the schoolhouse and arrested on a charge of having entered the place. Nothing was missing. District Attorney Murray stated to the court that he would recommend acceptance of a plea of guilty to unlawful entry in the case and Higgins pleaded so. Justice Schrick said that he found from investigation that drink was somewhat responsible for the defendant's appearance in court and he was going to give him a chance to make good. This was his last chance to try and go straight. He sentenced the defendant to six months in the county jail.

William O. Damms of Ellenville pleaded not guilty to a charge of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry. It is charged that Damms and Benjamin Slover on October 12 entered a closed boarding house at Spring Glen and removed property and also damaged other property. Damms had served time previously and his counsel, Benjamin Lonsdale, asked the court for additional time to make any motion relative to the case as might be desirable. Granted.

Unlawful Entry
Slover was next arraigned and he entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry. This plea was accepted by the court on recommendation of District Attorney Murray, who explained to the court that Slover had always borne a good reputation to date and that in the present matter Slover had been led into the trouble by Damms. In his opinion, Slover making the acquaintance of Damms, he said, Slover had been led astray. Justice Schrick said that on the suggestion of Mr. Murray he would give Slover a chance now of a chance than he had given Higgins. He imposed a sentence of one year in the county jail and then suspended the execution of the sentence. William Snyder of town of Shawangunk was arraigned on two charges of arson, second degree, alleged to have taken place November 27 last, at Shawangunk. It is charged he set fire to a property upon which he had a mortgage. He entered a plea of not guilty and asked that bail be continued. Dorr Monroe appeared for the defendant.

In the following cases there were no bills of indictment found and the charges against the defendants were dismissed and bail was cancelled where bail had been posted and defendants in custody were discharged: Roy Avery, held for abandonment; Kenneth Otis, held for grand larceny.

Frank and Tony Diandrie, held for burglary; Richard Longaker, held for burglary.

Benjamin Baranski, held for arson.

Nicholas Bonacri, held for arson.

130 New Members Join Local Y.M.C.A.

The Kingston Y. M. C. A. has recruited from September 15 to this morning's final record 130 new members through the untiring efforts of enthusiastic members. Instead of having a membership campaign the officials and the staff have decided that the month by month promotion gets the new member.

The membership committee, which is composed of Chairman E. J. Trowbridge, Wilson Ingalls, Arthur C. Quimby, Chester A. Baltz, Allan Hausstein and Fred Van Deusen and General Secretary Robert L. Sisson, have organized the Kingston Chapter of the Y. M. C. A. Emblem Club International as a recognition to the membership boosters.

Any member who brings in a new member to the Y. M. C. A. automatically becomes a member of this honor group. The following have brought in one or more new members since the first of November when the count was started: John McCullough, Louis Gottlieb, John Schwenk, J. Watson Bailey, Chester A. Baltz, A. Bruce, George Carpenter, James Evers, Donald Hyatt, George Keller, Harold Limbacher, Louis Port, William Schaffrick, Hugo Schroeder, Kenneth Slater, Herman Schwenk, William Teetsel, Myron Van Buren, Walter May, George Hizen, Russell H. Broughton, John Leahy, John Caprotti, Walter Hubbard, H. E. Winters and Myron Basch.

The board of directors approved a further recognition to membership boosters, bringing in new participants. One member, a mail triangular pin with the letter "Y" emblazoned in gold on a white background. Five members, an emblem in which the "Y" is in gold on a red background with a gold border, 10 members, an emblem in blue background and gold letter and border, when 25 members are introduced, the jeweled emblem, with border of sapphires enclosing the gold emblazoned "Y" on white background is presented. These are all secured from the membership department of the National Council of Y. M. C. A.'s in New York city.

The Kingston Y. M. C. A. is happy to announce that all students who are home from college are eligible to use the facilities of the association as guests during the entire time of their holiday season. All are invited to come in and get acquainted with the improvements which have been made since last summer. Upon application at the Y. M. C. A. office a guest privilege card will be presented.

Approximately 18,000 foreign tourists, mostly United States citizens, visited the Soviet Union in the first six months of 1936 against 16,000 the corresponding period in 1935.

WHY SURE THERE'S A SANTA

Port Ewen News

Water Hearing Here December 30

Port Ewen, Dec. 24.—Notices have been posted in various business places in the village for a public hearing relative to change of source of water supply. The hearing will be held in the fire house Wednesday evening, December 30 at 8 o'clock.

Lucretia Lodge

Port Ewen, Dec. 24.—The regular meeting of Lucretia Rebekah Lodge, No. 283, will be held in the Ulster Park lodge room this evening.

Miscellaneous News

Port Ewen, Dec. 24.—Warren Howe of Union City, N. J., is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howe.

The Boy Scouts of Troop 26 of Port Ewen held their regular business meeting in the Reformed Church hall Monday evening, December 21. The meeting was opened at 7:15 by the Senior Patrol leader, William Windram, who later led in the pledge of allegiance to the flag. The dues were then paid and attendance recorded. The Scouts were then put through their regular military drill by the junior assistant Scoutmaster, Jack Spinnenweber. Then the boys were put to work on different forms of Scout handicraft by the Scoutmaster, Mr. Palen. As a result of the previous week's study, Joseph Clark, Sterling Atkins, Jack Potter and Joseph Leiching passed in first aid. The meeting was closed at 9:30 by Mr. Palen pronouncing the Scout benediction.

Migratory birds come and go with blind punctuality. They may be seen starting south in the heat of the dog days, and many a first robin arrives north in a blizzard, when by stopping 100 miles further south he could have had warm weather. Recent discoveries by ornithologists, says a writer in Tyees, show that it is not the weather which starts the birds on their travels but the shortening of the hours of daylight.

Community Yule At High Falls Hall

High Falls, Dec. 24.—The fire hall was crowded to capacity Tuesday night, dozens standing, at the community Christmas exercises and every one enjoyed the evening. All parts were well rendered.

City Bowling League Records Compiled For Thirty Contests

The latest list of statistics released by Secretary Peter J. Bruck of the City Bowling League shows three players up in the 199 class—Whitely, Crispell, Johnny Ferraro and Gil Sampson. However, although Crispell is among the high honor group he has rolled only three games while the other two have 23 and 25 contests to their credit.

In the standing of the clubs, the American Legion holds away, leading with a percentage of .767 for 23 victories and seven defeats. Next in line come the Flanagan club and the Central Hudson. The Legion team has an average of .919, having dumped 27,561 pins in its 30 alley campaigns.

Besides leading the league, the Legion stands out as the team holding the high for three games, 2961 and high single, 1047.

In the individual class, Rube Leventhal holds high three record, 669, and divides the single honors with Ballard, 226.

Few Changes in Coaching Jobs Made by Colleges For Next Year

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—The wolf in sheep's clothing has been picking up along the football coaching front in the last couple of weeks, but it's still considerably below normal.

Although scattered coaching changes are in prospect, most of the schools in the big-time groups apparently are going to stick along in 1937 with what they have now.

Notable among the exceptions are the Southern, Big Six, Southwest and Rocky Mountain conferences, where one or more shifts are already made in the making.

For the first time in 20 years, the Southeastern Conference won't make a single change. Out in the Big Ten, two all is scarce, despite rumors of possible action at Iowa and Michigan.

The East's Ivy League is set, now that T. M. McLaughlin has been removed from the doubtful list with a new contract at Brown. The Pacific Coast undoubtedly will see no change in its coaching staff as 1937.

In spite of a reported offer from Michigan to Jimmy Thelan of Washington.

Reports, as usual, have been heard on all sides about contemplated shifts, but little credence is given to most of them. Sifting the fact from the rumor, here's the likely lineup of shifts for 1937:

South—Frank Anderson has been named as his walking papers at North Carolina State, but a fight is on to see if they stick. Bill Rafferty has gone from V. M. I. with Peckley H. H. as his assistant coach at W. & L.

Venturi Has Good Ring Record Here

Enrico Venturi, the clever lightweight champion of Europe, has started training at the Pioneer Gymnasium for his 10-round bout against Lou Ambers, champion lightweight of the world, in Madison Square Garden on Friday night, January 8. The match is an over the weight contest and the title will be involved. However, the fast stepping Italian is confident that he will stop the aggressive brawler from Herkimer.

Venturi has had 12 fights since coming to this country and won all of them. He says he will add Ambers to his list of victims. Enrico started by defeating the sturdy Al Roth and then went on to beat some of the best lightweights in the country. He beat Frankie Kliek and Lew Massey and gave Red Cochran a shellacking in 10 heats. He also outpointed Eddie Zivic and Al Dunbar and slugged Honey Melody all over the ring in another 10 rounds.

Lou Feldman and Frank Wallace were also beaten by the hard fisted foreigner, as were Orville Drouillard and Pete Masella. Only three weeks ago he defeated the veteran Bushey Graham in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden.

Louis-Pastor Bout Not Settled Yet

New York, Dec. 24 (AP)—The heavyweight situation in general and the proposed Joe Louis-Bob Pastor fight in particular are running into more angles than a class in geometry.

The rival promoters, Mike Jacobs and Madison Square Garden's Jimmy Johnston, whose differences are holding up the negotiations, were scheduled for another conference today. Jacobs is insisting on an option on Pastor's services for three years if he should beat Louis, and the Garden is insisting against such a demand.

Meantime, Broadway's boxing boulevard wondered about a statement attributed to Jacobs, quoting him as threatening to keep Louis out of New York state rings unless the state athletic commission rescinded a couple of decisions adverse to the promoter.

However, a few hours later, from his Red Bank (N. J.) home, Jacobs announced that negotiations for the Pastor fight still were pending, failed to mention his threat to keep Louis out of the state, and admitted that January 29 had been mentioned for the Pastor-Louis bout in the Garden.

reports are heard Greasy Neale, now assistant at Yale, may move south and succeed Gus Tebell at Virginia; Loyola of Louisiana has released Eddie Reed.

Big Six—The Army's marching orders sends Bill Jones from Oklahoma, and gives his line coach, Tom Sidham, the job; George Veenker leaves Iowa State, and Line Coach Jimmy Yeager gets his place; there's unrest at Kansas, but the chances are Ad Lindsey will stay; and there's talk of the offer for Dana Bible to leave Nebraska's conference championships for Texas, but this, too, is said to be the malarky.

East—Vic Hanson is definitely out at Syracuse; Van Deuse, Trinity College coach, may be offered the athletic directorship at Syracuse to succeed Dr. Leslie Bryan, also out; the howling is heard at Lafayette, where Ernie Nevers made anything but an auspicious debut. Little Clippie Smith is said to be entertaining offers to leave Duquesne for bigger fields, and all is not as serene with Howard Harzeter at Carnegie Tech.

Far West—Adolph Leonardowski, Montana mentor, will become assistant at Nebraska; Spud Lewis is out at San Francisco, as is Gene Murphy at Portland; the Pacific Coast Conference group looks to be solid, and there seems little possibility of developments from the criticism heaped on Howard Jones at Southern California through November.

Southwest—Jack Cleveland already has abdicated at Texas. The Lone Horns haven't let on who they'll take if they can't get Bible from Nebraska.

Reports, as usual, have been heard on all sides about contemplated shifts, but little credence is given to most of them. Sifting the fact from the rumor, here's the likely lineup of shifts for 1937:

South—Frank Anderson has been named as his walking papers at North Carolina State, but a fight is on to see if they stick. Bill Rafferty has gone from V. M. I. with Peckley H. H. as his assistant coach at W. & L.

Big Six—The Army's marching orders sends Bill Jones from Oklahoma, and gives his line coach, Tom Sidham, the job; George Veenker leaves Iowa State, and Line Coach Jimmy Yeager gets his place; there's unrest at Kansas, but the chances are Ad Lindsey will stay; and there's talk of the offer for Dana Bible to leave Nebraska's conference championships for Texas, but this, too, is said to be the malarky.

East—Vic Hanson is definitely out at Syracuse; Van Deuse, Trinity College coach, may be offered the athletic directorship at Syracuse to succeed Dr. Leslie Bryan, also out; the howling is heard at Lafayette, where Ernie Nevers made anything but an auspicious debut. Little Clippie Smith is said to be entertaining offers to leave Duquesne for bigger fields, and all is not as serene with Howard Harzeter at Carnegie Tech.

Far West—Adolph Leonardowski, Montana mentor, will become assistant at Nebraska; Spud Lewis is out at San Francisco, as is Gene Murphy at Portland; the Pacific Coast Conference group looks to be solid, and there seems little possibility of developments from the criticism heaped on Howard Jones at Southern California through November.

Southwest—Jack Cleveland already has abdicated at Texas. The Lone Horns haven't let on who they'll take if they can't get Bible from Nebraska.

Reports, as usual, have been heard on all sides about contemplated shifts, but little credence is given to most of them. Sifting the fact from the rumor, here's the likely lineup of shifts for 1937:

The Year In Sports

—Racing—

GRANVILLE: Home First Seven Times

By ORLO ROBERTSON
(Fifth in a Series)

New York (AP)—A pair of 3-year-olds, little known at the start of the year, wrote 1936 turf history with feats so dramatic that the performances of other great thoroughbreds faded in the dusty wake of their flying hooves.

Bold Venture, survivor of a fire as a 2-year-old, figured in two of racing's most dramatic finishes, capturing the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness flying the silks of Morton L. Schwartz. The bay son of St. Germain survived a great stretch drive by J. E. Widener's highly-regarded Brevity to win the roughly-ridden Derby. He came from behind to whip William Woodward's Granville by a nose in the Preakness and then was forced into retirement with a bowed tendon.

Granville, after tossing his rider in the Derby and bowing to Bold Venture in the Preakness, came back to rule the 3-year-old division and chalk up an impressive triumph over Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Discovery in the mile-and-three-quarters of the Saratoga Cup.

Following much the same trail blazed by his great sire, Gallant Fox, six years ago, Granville piled up an enviable record of seven triumphs, including victories in the Belmont Stakes and Arlington Classic, and three seconds in ten starts to earn acclaim as the horse of the year. Never more than a nose back at the finish, the Woodward ace failed only in the Wood Memorial, when he lost to Teufel, a stablemate, the Suburban Handicap, in which he trailed Walter M. Pefferd's Firehorn, and the Preakness.

After battling his way to the top of the money-winning list, with earnings totaling $110,295, Granville followed Bold Venture and Brevity to the sidelines as the result of a leg injury. Brevity, winner of the Florida Derby in what was then world-equaling time of 1:48 1-5 for a mile and an eighth, retired, after trailing Ogden Phipps' White Cockade in the Withers Mile at Belmont Park.

Jacobs Sets Trainer's Mark
While Granville and Bold Venture were capturing the fancy of the racing public as few horses have in recent years, J. H. Louchheim's Pompeon won general recognition as the stand-out 2-year-old of the year. Discovery lost his position as undisputed king of the handicap division, Hirsch Jacobs hung up a new American record for trainers in winning the title for the fourth straight year.

Mrs. Eibel V. Mars, owner of the Milky Way farm of Chicago, supplanted Vanderbilt as the leading money-winning owner, and Basil James of Sunnyside, Wash., topped the jockeys.

JAMES: Jockey Of The Year

Pompeon, met defeat only twice in eight starts in earning $82,260. He bowed to May Hirsch's No Sir in his lone start at Saratoga, came back to whip the nation's best in the Belmont Futurity and then lost to Mrs. Mars' Reaping Reward in the rich New England Futurity.

Mrs. Mars' Case Ace might have offered Pompeon an argument but he was forced to retire after winning the Arlington Futurity. Dewitt Page's Maedic piled up the fine record of winning five straight stakes at Saratoga, including the Hopeful, but was considered strictly a mud runner. Reaping Reward followed up his New England victory with a triumph in the Jockey Club Stakes at Churchill Downs and, as a result, probably will be well backed in the 1937 Kentucky Derby future books along with Jeffords' Matey, victor in the Pimlico Futurity.

Discovery, heavily weighted in every race, won only $34,750 in taking six of his 14 starts before finishing his 4-year campaign. As a result he was forced to share honors with A. A. Baroni's Top Row, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in one of his two starts. Mrs. F. A. Carraud's Time Supply, and Elwood Sachsemaier's Roman Soldier.

Jacobs, the former pigeon fancier from Brooklyn, enjoyed his greatest year on the turf. Before the start of the Florida season, he had saddled 167 winners to surpass the old record of 147 set by C. B. (Cowboy) Irwin 12 years ago. Chief among Jacobs' developments of the year was Action, the reformed plater for which he paid $1,000 in the spring. The 7-year-old gelding moved up from the ranks of selling platers to the handicap division in winning 10 of his 12 starts, eight of them in a row.

Mrs. Mars, who invested more than $100,000 in yearlings at Saratoga for the second straight year, failed by nearly that amount in equaling Vanderbilt's mark of a year ago, but won $205,450. Vanderbilt's horses accounted for $159,545 to take second place.

Murell-Severino Go Promises Lots of Action at Bouts Dec. 30

One of the star supporting bouts on the boxing card headed by Charlie Fozzoli, Albany, and Tommy Anastasia, Peekskill, to be held at the municipal auditorium Wednesday night, December 30, is the match between Joey Murell, Hudson featherweight, and Mario Severino, Capital Hurricane.

The two are scheduled for five rounds, but whether the go will last the entire route is something that cannot be counted on. Both boys are pretty good punchers, and well schooled in the art of self defense. Murell's boxing ability won for him the featherweight championship in the Albany Golden Gloves eliminations last winter, and he was one of the medal winners in the New York city tournament.

Joey proudly displayed his silver medal from the Golden Gloves, when he agreed with the Mayor's Industrial Committee to box Severino. "I know he's a good boy, and I'll have to be in top notch form to beat him, or even to stay with him. But I'll be just that, because I want to win. Count on me to do all I can for the success of your show. I'll give 'em lots of action."

Murell is an honest to goodness fighter. He likes to battle. His promise to give action was not made boastfully, but in earnest. He is a sincere little fellow, a ringman who always make a hit with the fans. Severino is a slashing battler, too, a pugilist of action, who is on top of his foe from bell to bell. "He'll make one of the best scraps with Murell that Kingston fight fans have ever seen," said Chairman Ben Becker of the Adirondack Division, A. A. E., who really made the match before he left Albany for Cuba with the United States team to box in the international sports carnival.

The Forezli-Anastasia scrap looms as one of the crowning fist highlights of the current boxing season. The Albany Thunderbolt has scored two knockouts in a row here, and Anastasia has been going great guns in the southern Hudson valley. The Peekskill battler is a rugged Italian, a heavy hitter, who always bores in to win.

Two local boys are on the card. Kid Chapple of Kingston, and Tommy Zano of Glasco.

Reservations for the bouts are being accepted now at 3715. Indications are that the house will be a sell-out for this big fist offering, the last of 1936.

Colonials 3rd in American Loop Battle Hebrews Here Christmas

Frank Morgenweck's Kingston Colonials, the deep concern of a local committee interested in keeping them going in the American Basketball League, are third in the loop standing. John J. O'Brien, president, has announced for publication.

O'Brien's figures show the Jersey Reds in the van with the Philadelphia Hebrews second, and Kingston third, and indicate that Phil Rabin, Morgenweck's star guard, has a safe lead in the scoring race with 211 points for 14 games. His closest rival is MacKishron of the Jewels with 145. Charlie Hustia, Rabin's guard mate, is fifth with

3 Storm-Battered Liners Arrive

New York, Dec. 24 (AP).—Three transatlantic liners—Manhattan, Normandie, and the Deutschland—along with several smaller steamships pulled into New York harbor today, storm-battered but still in time to set 20,000 bags of foreign mail and 10,000 passengers ashore for Christmas.

All three told harrowing tales of winds of hurricane proportions, waves 50 feet high in the Atlantic, breaking over bridges and funnels. Captain Pierre Thoreaux, of the Normandie, said:

"It was the worst storm this ship has ever been through. One of the worst I have ever seen. He had westerly gales for two and a half days. The worst of it was Saturday night and Sunday, when the wind sometimes reached a velocity of 85 miles an hour, hurricane force. It slowed the ship down to 25 knots, then 18 for three hours."

All these ships, along with the Europa, which docked last night, were between one and two days late, but still able to make the starting run for the opening of Christmas festivities tonight.

Flying Santa Claus

Boston Dec. 24 (AP).—Captain William Winchup, veteran New England pilot, tuned up his tri-motor plane today for a 2,000 mile trip as a flying "Santa Claus" to keepers of 91 far flung lighthouses. It is Winchup's annual pilgrimage to those lonely outposts on the bleak North Atlantic. Outlying Coast Guard stations also will receive gifts. Winchup planned to swoop down over stations from Massachusetts Bay to Portland, Me. Tomorrow he will drop bundles of Christmas cheer at the marine traffic beacons from Portland to New Brunswick.

Santa Claus Brings Joy to 1,700 Needy Children in City

Santa Claus wore a wide grin on his genial features today as he wiped his brow and then leaped into his empty sleigh, and with a command to his reindeer disappeared over the housetops, heading directly for the North Pole, for there remained much work for the genial patron saint of the children to accomplish until he called his labors for Christmas of 1936 to an end. Santa Claus had a right to be happy and contented over his work in Kingston for he was kept busy today riding the city fire trucks and delivering the Christmas packages to the homes of 1,700 needy children.

With the final delivery of the gifts this afternoon the members of the Mayor's Christmas Cheer Committee heaved a huge sigh of relief and satisfaction. Through the assistance of hundreds of volunteer workers and the warm-hearted response of the citizens of the city the committee had faced a big task and had completed a fine job in a most workmanlike fashion.

It was a big job that the committee faced in seeing to it that 1,700 needy children were not overlooked by Santa Claus this Christmas, and it was through the efficient work of every member of the committee and the hearty cooperation of the city at large that the work was crowned with success.

The committee had announced that it needed at least $1,500 to be used for the purchase of necessary clothing that was distributed. Mrs. A. DuBois Rose, chairman of the finance committee, and her workers announced this morning that to date the sum of $1,303.83 had been contributed. The committee is still continuing to function efficiently and expects to reach the goal set of $1,500.

Additional organizations who contributed to the fund and who have not been previously mentioned are: Uniformed Firemen's Association, Local No. 461, making a total of $100 contributed to the fund by the paid firemen of the city; Homecoming Club of high school, Lend-a-hand Society of Sahler's Sanitarium, Coterie Club, Kingston College Women's Club, Kiwanis Club, Ladies' Auxiliary of Benedictine Hospital, Ladies' Auxiliary of Elks Club, Elks Lodge, No. 550, WTW Class of St. James M. E. Church, Knights of Columbus, Central Business Association, Nurses' Alumnae of Kingston Hospital, American Legion, Delta Alpha girls, Benedictine Hospital Alumnae Association, Roundout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M.

Besides the large amount collected from the students and employees in the public schools many of the citizens of the city have voluntarily contributed directly to the mayor's office or through the workers of the finance committee.

Post Office Will Observe Holiday

Christmas Day will be observed by the Kingston post office department and all of the windows in both the Central office and the two branch offices will be closed all day and there will be no delivery of mail that day, except one delivery of parcel post mail in the residential sections of the city only. There will also be the usual holiday collection of mail.

All day today the members of the post office department worked hard as delivery of mail continued during the morning and afternoon. As fast as the mail came in it was sorted and delivered promptly. Postmaster Kraft expected that all mail delivered to the post office here would be delivered today.

The post office department will close at 6 o'clock tonight instead of keeping open until 8 o'clock as it has done the past week. The postmaster said that the employees of the department had worked hard and earnestly in seeing to it that the Christmas mail was safely and quickly delivered.

In Police Court

Earl Waterman of 50 Hurler avenue was fined $3 in police court this morning for driving a car equipped with license plates that had been issued for another car. The plates were ordered confiscated. Angelo Ciosi of 484 Delaware avenue, arrested on a charge of having a slot machine in his possession, will have a hearing later in court.

Finds Way Home

Two-year-old Charles Warren of Hot Springs, Ark., displayed unusual interest in his cereal after spending 24 hours in woodlands without food or adequate clothing. He found his way to a farmhouse four miles from his home while 200 national guardsmen and citizens searched for him. (Associated Press Photo)

POLITICS at Random

WHAT next for John D. M. Hamilton, now that the Republican national committee has rejected his resignation as chairman?

That Chicago "vote of confidence"—only two members voted in the negative—has been described as overwhelming, but varied indeed must have been the emotions of those who voted.

The action is open to many interpretations, not the least of which is that the committee did not hold Hamilton personally responsible for the election disaster. Hamilton himself admitted during the course of the meeting that "we made a lot of mistakes."

But it would be strange indeed if the committee was as nearly unanimous as the vote itself would indicate. The elephant was sorely wounded last autumn, and recuperation from such vital blows is slow.

There persists in some quarters the feeling that Mr. Hamilton wished off on himself one of the most difficult tasks in recent political history, and that he is well come to it. Even when his resignation was before the committee there were no other known aspirants for the job. Why? The scattered few who openly opposed Hamilton contented themselves by criticizing him.

Work Ahead

THE obvious—and intended—interpretation of the "vote of confidence" is that it is a mandate to put the party in "fighting trim" for the 1938 congressional elections.

That alone might daunt a man of lesser physical vigor than Hamilton. But he does not start from scratch. That must be remembered in any analysis of his position.

There is an old score which must be settled first. During the campaign a deficit of more than $900,000 piled up, mainly for advertising and radio time. Hamilton was in charge then. He now will be in charge of efforts to liquidate that debt. Thoughts of these obligations might well have tempered the desires of committee members otherwise anxious for a change in leadership.

That admittedly was the attitude of some of the so-called old guard leaders, whose advice seldom was sought by Hamilton during the campaign. (Hill's of New York arrives at the meeting too late to vote, and Phipps of Colorado did not even attend.)

Hints of ill winds to blow from congress may well trouble the national chairman. Two Republicans from the house of representatives were among the most outspoken of his critics at the vote of confidence meeting. That brings up the question of how well these men, and others, will follow any suggestions on legislative matters Hamilton might make. There will be little solace for him when he turns to congress.

NeveleCountryClub Forced to Refuse Many Reservations

If the experience of the Nevele Country Club, popular summer and winter resort near Ellenville, reflects conditions among other resorts in this section catering to winter guests, the holiday season now beginning, lasting through Christmas and New Year's, will be one of the most prosperous in a long while.

The Nevele Country Club will be filled to capacity during the entire holiday season, with guests from New York city and vicinity. In addition it has been found necessary to refuse perhaps as many more applications for reservations because of lack of accommodations.

The Nevele Country Club has steam-heated accommodations for 300 or more guests in winter, although in summer they can take care of a considerably larger number. Guests will find provision for all kinds of winter sports, including a skating rink, toboggan slide, ski trails, etc., all of which will be available except those for which snow is a necessary adjunct. An orchestra will be in attendance and there will be entertainment by professional entertainers each night.

Ice Festival at Woodstock, Dec. 26

Woodstock, Dec. 23.—With its three acre rink covered with ice, six inches thick, a new shelter built and electric lighting arrangements about completed, officials of the Woodstock Winter Sports Association are ready to semi-officially open the winter sports season on Saturday with an ice festival.

There will be afternoon and evening programs and at the latter skaters are invited to appear in costume. There will be torch skating, a number of exhibition events and during the afternoon there will be a program of novelty races for boys and girls.

For the afternoon racing events Chairman Louis A. Lewis of the Special Events committee has scheduled the following, to commence at 2 o'clock:

Three-legged race for boys. The right and left legs tied together will not be equipped with skates.

Girls' hair-pulling race. Competitors will be in pairs, each girl pulling her partner across the ice by the hair, in turn.

Boys' push and coast race, one boy on skates pushing another seated on a sled.

Adult potato race on skates. Girls' ski race on the ice. Adults ball and chain race, skating backwards. Dog Derby, dog pulling sled (no passengers) driven by boy on skates.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robin Coon

By ROBBIN COON
HOLLYWOOD—Dick Dickinson is a worn-out stunt man, a canceled "insurance policy" for movie thrills.

He is lean and gaunt, and he gets around (when he does) on a cane. Three years ago it looked as if he would vault the pearly gates for his last stunt. His body broken and his nerves shot, he still recovered. But his stunting days were over, and he was still in his 30's then.

The movie relief fund regards stunt men as "transients" in the business, but fellows in his profession made such a plea that an exception was made. Dick gets his rent paid and a little money for himself and his cheerful young wife, who can't work either, because if she did there would have to be a nurse for Dick. Dick is "just fine"—some days.

Cheerful Despite Situation
Dick is a cheerful cuss, too. He hates this relief business and wants to work, but what can he do? Extra work, yes, when he can get it and it's a sitting-down job. His bitterness, when it creeps out occasionally, is for the movie's attitude toward stunt men in general.

At that, he says, it is better now than it was in the old days. When Dick started back on the two-reel comedy era of the films, men raked their necks for $5 a day, with a 3-day guarantee. Now a stunt man can ask from $35 to $500 per stunt, more if the danger warrants. He can ask, but he won't always get it.

"It'd kill you," says Dick, "the boots we got when we asked a decent price for a trick that some writer sat down and dashed off."

"The boys who can still do 'em are getting the same beats. They have to listen to men who sit behind desks and haggle with them over what their lives are worth. The fellow who hires the stunt man never sees the stunt, except on paper. All he sees is the money he can save for the studio if he can get it done for less. . . . They don't realize that a stunt man is a sort of insurance policy on their picture. They pay us a premium and we guarantee that some of their high-priced people is going to get hurt and cost 'em from $25,000 up in delays. . . ."

All "Behind Sight-See"

Dick got his start in the days when stunts were harder and less protected by safety equipment. He got no state compensation because "like the fellow caught in the bus now, I couldn't tell what tooth bit me."
